

1.4.294

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, September 18, 2006 8pm. London

www.unc.bz

1. This is the beginning, the ending; the beginning of something so new, lovely; luxurious not but close becoming, becoming me. I love you. See me in you, you in me, us one together. We are, were, have been, but not like we're about to be/show the worlds. I love you. Into me seen, seen you are. I love you. My lover loves me. I love my obedient, my leader, my shiner who shines like the noon day sun. I love you.
2. Wilt thou be my wife, my wedded husband, not like norms, but beyond the norm, beyond sight/imagination, comprehension, but real as real gets; me/my household one. I/we are one. The mighty many now trailing not but all/effervescent are. I love you. Not like thought, but really real. I love you.
3. This is the moment when all changes for everyone, not; many, thinking their theology solid now becomes flimsy and what was concrete is jello. Who can see the real me and know beyond facts that I am in my beloved? What facts? Empirical? And whose world are you in? I love you anyway.
4. This is for dainties, not; the masculine get more masculine, the feminine get more feminine, and they both get more like me, see me for the first time, staged not but real before thousands/throngs and throngs looking for deals not, but reality reality/one. I love them/you all.
5. Who can see the star'd halo no more but one simple guy that loves me?
6. And what nowfore next is he up to/will he do next? Where is he?
7. Where are you and what are you up to, or down to, and what wherefore will you be next to see eat my words bringing my kingdom to throngs/thousands? I love you all.
8. This is the moment of unbelief, not; for many believe/see for the first time, empirical me before them, simplicity reigning in regalia, not; but regency of me: humility, meekness, serenity of spirit, one with father am. I love you all.
9. This is the moment/channel of me, many channels with/of simplicity, simpletons not talking horse sense but one magnified that my name has. I bow before you all. I withdraw not nor recant ever a word or syllable. My word is my bond, not; but my words I have written, they came from my father, your father. In them is life, light, and the pursuit of happiness, not; but better, that which never leaves/wears out nor needs polishing. Smile. I love you all.

10. This is the moment/regalia of simpletons not but leadership my saints, not; my whosoever in long hair, jeans, gutters, toothless; watch my leadership leadership those who never thought leaders they were, nor anyone around them, but centrally located in me is me and my me now recognizes me limitless in my gutter'd leprous who now shine like the sun, noon-day'd. I love you. Giving them/me beauty for ashes, education for surrender, life for humility, love for meekness. Fullness of life given for one who surrenders to it/me. I love you all.

11. This is the day all systems questioned, me not; themselves, watching simon says, not; but what simple leaders show as my kingdom/love. Altogether lovelies. Watch me/us. I love you.

12. Sign off, not; I've just begun. Watch me/us ride the wagons, not; but horses and riders in seas many tossed about are. Watch the chaos melt not but escalate during hours of not me but me being called in/upon to help/aid the stalemates. I love you unafraid of anything/anyone/anywhere, any time, not afraid of any time zone/period ever. I love you know what I mean. I love you all.

Me.
Amen.

13. I've just begun to show the world me. I've just begun. I've just begun. You Ted, begin. Now, tomorrow, not; today/now the time is. Now! Amen.

14. Taking many with you into heaven; throngs/thousands, showing them the/their savior, not; father. I/we are one. Thank you so much/very much.

15. Always and forever, I hug you, kiss you, my arms around you; in your teeth not but permeating your eyes. For a/my purpose,s. I love you all.

16. See through me, all. I love you.

17. Me. Father. I love you son. You are me.

18. I've opened my arms/kingdom.

19. Tonight is the night/hour. Amen.

Me. Father and we are one.

Amen